One of the main features most of the models have, is the new Direct Vent technology. This is guaranteed to make the air quality in your home much cleaner.

Benefits of Direct Vent Technology:

- Extracts polluted air and pulls clean air in
- Redirects heat up to 20 ft. into another room
- Powerful and efficient performance

MAINTENANCE

When you schedule your annual maintenance for your heating or air conditioning system, be sure to schedule your maintenance for your gas fireplace.

Gas fireplaces require annual maintenance due to debris in the vents, in the flue and inside the chimney. This needs to be removed, as it will restrict airflow and might cause an odor. Gas fireplace debris includes: deteriorating logs, dirty glass doors or frame and residue.

During the yearly maintenance the Comfort Pro technician will first take a look at the exterior, which includes: making sure the glass is not chipped, cracked, or dirty, and that the framework is holding up sufficiently. While checking for dents or debris, the technician will also look at the interior gas ignition under the log structure and make sure it is lighting flawlessly. They also make sure your log set is not deteriorating in any way.

MEET THE COMFORT PRO TEAM

Ben Hartman

"The one who falls and gets up is so much stronger than the one who never fell."

- Roy T. Bennett.

This is Ben Hartman's favorite quote. As a Comfort Advisor, at Comfort, Pro Inc., Ben enjoys being faced with new heating and air-conditioning challenges daily. He feels fulfilled when he is able to solve his customers' issues.

Born and raised in the Reading area, Ben went to Conrad Weiser High School. After finishing high school, he started at Comfort Pro as an apprentice. While an apprentice, he enrolled in a three-year trade school program. In 2002, upon completion of his apprenticeship and schooling, Ben became an installer and in 2011 he was appointed a Comfort Advisor.

Ben says his greatest accomplishment is being a father. He loves spending as much quality time with his children as he can. Whether it is vacationing, coaching his sons Dream League Baseballtown team, helping his kids with arts and crafts, or simply just goofing around, Ben loves making memories with his kids.

When he is not with his children, Ben enjoys traveling, being outdoors, and participating in CrossFit training. He enjoys CrossFit because every day is a different challenge. He also enjoys participating in athletic events such as: The Broad Street 10 mile run and Tough Mudder challenges. Five things he cannot live without are his family, quality time, wings, a good drink, and good conversation.

GAS FIREPLACES ARE BACK ...continued

Often times, the face of the unit will have to be taken off, so they can inspect the valves and connections underneath your fireplace or insert. They will make sure your fireplace's heat output is correct and clean up any residue that may have started to block any ports or vents. The technician will inform you of any repairs your gas fireplace may need.

SERVICE

Sometimes gas fireplaces act up and cause problems. Does your gas fireplace have any of these issues: no ignition, pilot light failure, burner trouble, strange odors, odd sounds? Call Comfort Pro today at 610-926-4200, our service technicians can help!

Molly's Yard: 5 Fall Safety Tips for Pet Owners

With fall in the air, you and your pet are spending more time together outside enjoying long walks or simply play time but be aware fall provides new dangers to your pet. Molly shares five tips to keep her furry friends healthy this fall.

1. ANTIFREEZE

If you're one of the many motorists who changes antifreeze in the fall, you should make sure any and all spills are cleaned thoroughly. While there are propylene glycol-based coolant products that claim to be safer for animals than the traditional Ethylene glycol-based antifreeze, they can still damage an animal's gastric system.

2. WILDLIFE

Those animals that aren't already indoors will head for cover soon, now that cooler weather is coming. Hibernating animals, snakes, skunks and other creatures you probably don't want to tangle with, can be making their homes for the upcoming winter and a curious dog may seem like a threat. Keep a keen eye out for these animals when hiking or walking through the wilderness.

3. WILD WEATHER

As temperatures drop, pet owners need to pay more attention to their animals' eating habits throughout colder months. Animals use more energy to stay warm and so will need to eat more to make up for the calories.

4. MUSHROOMS

Fall is a time for fungus, and unless you can distinguish a safe mushroom from those that are deadly to dogs, your best bet is to keep your pets clear. Don't let your animal sniff around or play near mushroom patches. If your dog is showing signs of discomfort, gagging or any other strange behavior after being near mushrooms, call the nearest poison control center for help.

5. COMPOST

If you've got a compost bin, you should keep it covered or fence it off. Toxins from rotting organic material can harm animals just as much as some chemicals can.
